

Content Information – for unknown reasons

This work contains discussions about mental health and mental health treatment; depictions of discrimination experienced by an individual with regard to their perceived mental health status; and scenes in which individuals experience emotional and psychological distress. Additionally, death and grief are major themes in the work, and characters make reference to the death of loved ones, relate memories of the cause of death, and discuss their own fears about dying.